HR and Remote Work-Are you Ready?
Presented by
Eric B. Meyer

Operating a law firm in the post-COVID world has changed significantly. Maybe it's a work-from-home request, an employee who seeks an exemption from a mandatory COVID-19 vaccination, or an employee experiencing mental health issues. The HR compliance considerations have changed dramatically. We invite you to join Eric Meyer, an employment law partner at FisherBroyles, the largest all-remote law firm in the world, as he takes us through relevant legal guidance, answers frequently asked questions, and explores some hypothetical situations.

Learning Objectives

- Understand employer responsibilities to provide reasonable accommodations under federal, state, and local law.
- Obtain best practices for handling work-from-home requests.
- Learn what rights employees may have to take a leave of absence from work.
- Discover some of the risks of mandating employee vaccinations / COVID-19 tests.

Eric B. Meyer specializes in Employment law and is an approved EEOC-trainer. He offers day-to-day employment counseling, workplace audits and investigations and other prophylactic measures to keep your workplace in compliance. He is a trial-tested, experienced litigator that has represented companies of all sizes in a veritable alphabet soup of employment law claims such as the ADA, ADEA, CEPA, FMLA, FLSA, NJLAD, PHRA, Title VII and USERRA. He is the author of The Employer Handbook, an informative blog that examines employment questions and issues that are timely and relevant with humor and detail.
